ANCESTORS

If you could meet your ancestors,
All standing in a row,

Would you be proud of them or not,
Or don't you really know?

Some strange discoveries are made,
In Climbing family trees,

And some of them, you know, do not,
Particularly please,

If you could see your ancestors,
All standing in a row,

There might be some of, them, perhaps,
You wouldn't care to know,

But here's another question, which,
Requires a different view---

If you could meet you ancestors,
Would they be proud of you.

THE FAMILY NAME

From "Wil", and the patronymic termination
"kins". The son of Wilkins.

Arthur's Dictionary of Names,

Page 266,

Most other authorities agree that the name is a derivative, one or more degrees removed of the Christian name, "William".

Lower, Beardsley and others.

The early arrival of the Wilkinsons in America and their general distribution, doubtless including many widely removed branches of the family, is shown by the First Census, taken in 1790.

Owing to the illiteracy of the times, the inadequate machinery of the census organization, and the carelessness of many of the enumerators, the spelling of family names was largely phonetic and varied greatly in the returns. The Wilkinson name was no exception to the rule and appears in various forms as follows: Wilkinson, Wilkenson, Willinkinson, Wilkerson, Wilkason, Wilkeson, Wilkison and Wilkson, although the great majority appears as Wilkinson.

In all 255 of the above families were reported including a total of 1361 persons. These families were distributed as follows:

Maine-----	5
New Hampshire-----	5
Vermont-----	2
Massachusetts-----	4
Rhode Island-----	21
Connecticut-----	6
New York-----	22
Pennsylvania-----	28
Maryland-----	12
Virginia-----	66
North Carolina-----	70
South Carolina-----	14

This schedule shows that the family was found in every state in which the census was taken although the family seems centered in Virginia and North Carolina which returned 136 of 255 families reported.

The Census of 1910 reports members of the family living in every state and territory of the Union.

The name of Wilkinson in its various forms appears among the earliest in the American colonies. Immigrants of that name evidently came to America from many sources and continuously throughout the pre-Revolutionary period. Certain it is that by the close of that period they were widely distributed and many families of the name had resided in America for several generations. It is therefore practically impossible to trace through the maze of names occurring in practically every colonial and Revolutionary record of any extent the line of any particular branch not conclusively established and authenticated by local family records.

The following citations to Wilkinsons data are hastily compiled from notes made at random during searches for other references. It is manifestly impossible to connect many, if any, of them with the Missouri branch. The libraries teem with other references to persons of the name, and of course the great bulk of those who bore the name in those pioneer days when records were few and inadequate lived out their allotted days leaving no ripple upon the surface of the great sea of written records which has come down to us.

William Wilkinson, of St. Andrews Parish, Brunswick County, Virginia, applied for a Revolutionary pension, October 23, 1832. He was 71 years old at the time and his claim was allowed. He enlisted at Greensville, County, Virginia in 1779 as a private and was stationed near Petersburg, Virginia. He served three months and again enlisted under Captain Henry Robinson in the regiment of Colonel Richard Elliott, at the close of his term he again enlisted for a further three months in the regiment of Colonel Downman. His entire service comprising three terms of three months each was in 1779 and during the entire time he was at Petersburg, Virginia. No family data is given in his application, and the Pension Bureau certifies that he is the only soldier named Wm. Wilkinson (or Wilkerson or similar name) of Virginia found on the Revolutionary War Records of the Bureau. BUREAU OF PENSIONS, REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORDS, S.F. 6408

William Wilkinson served in the 10th Virginia regiment in the Continental Line. War Department 207, 1.
William Wilkinson served in the King George Militia v.l, Reg. 49. ECKENRODE'S VIRGINIA SOLDIERS IN THE REVOLUTION, page 324.

William Wilkinson served in the Revolutionary War as a private of Virginia Cavalry, designation of organization not shown. A list of soldiers of the Virginia Line on Continental establishment who received certificates for their full pay agreeable to an act of the Assembly of Virginia passed at the November session, 1781, shows that on June 27, 1783, a Mr. Pollard received the sum of 16 pounds sterling and 5 shillings on account of the service of said William Wilkinson. Nothing further relative to his service has been found, U.S. War Department.

2-William----Cir.1760-----Jan.23, 1838

Nothing whatever is known of this Wilkinson. The earliest knowledge of the family places his son, William, in what was then Hampshire County, Virginia, now Grant County, West Virginia. Tradition makes no mention of either his name or his place of residence, although an examination of the records of the Census of 1830 for Lincoln County, Missouri, would doubtless give the birthplace of his son, William, who died there in 1838.

William Wilkinson was living, in 1788, in Hampshire County, Virginia. At least three of his children and perhaps others were born there or near there. He seems to have started on his western migration prior to 1790 as his name has not been definitely located among the heads of families reported in the first census, although that is not conclusive evidence as the census, from the very nature of conditions, could not be absolutely accurate, and many of the records of the Virginia census were destroyed in the burning of the Capitol at Washington in 1814.

He was a veteran of the Revolutionary War and served as a private in the company of Captain John Gellison in the 10th Virginia Regiment commanded by Colonel Edward Stevens; in which he enlisted February 27, 1777. He was wounded and taken prisoner September 11, 1777, probably in the same battle in which his Colonel was wounded. He reenlisted at Middlebrook March 9, 1779, in the same company to serve during the war but his name is last borne on the roll for the month of November, 1779. No further record of him has been found in the archives of the War Department. (Letter by the Adjutant General, May 6, 1913). (Eckenrode's List of the Revolutionary Soldiers of Virginia, page 324). Middlebrook is in Augusta County, Virginia, originally embracing with Frederick County the whole of the present Grant County, West Virginia.

William probably removed first to Indiana as a granddaughter (IV-18) says that his son, James, was the first time married in that state, but in 1812 he was living near Knoxville, Tennessee, where at least two of his sons enlisted in the second war against England. It is possible that he next resided in the State of Kentucky, but it is certain that during the early twenties or sooner he had settled in Lincoln County, Missouri, where he spent his last days.

On his arrival in Missouri, he preempted land from the government to which he added later by purchase, and at the time of his death owned a tract bequeathed in his will and a number of slaves. After his death this land was held by his son, Herod Wilkinson, possibly also by his son, James Wilkinson.

Later it was owned by a Mr. Blanton and subsequently by Clint Prewitt, Dr. Leroy Lee and others respectively. An examination of the records in the government land office and of the deed records in the Recorder's Office at Troy would give the exact location and extent of the tract and the history of its ownership.

His residence, the usual log house of the times, stood on the crest of the bluff at the foot of which runs the Wilkinson Spring, and is near the present site of the old "Prewitt Place". Here he died January 23, 1838. A granddaughter (IV-22) remembers visiting him here when a small child, and recalls seeing his slaves dress the cancer on his breast which brought about his death. He was buried in the family cemetery which lies about 50 yards southwest of the present Prewitt House (or perhaps his own original log house). The site of this cemetery has long since been ploughed over. Late in the 19th century no sign of the cemetery or any of its graves remained.

WILL OF WILLIAM WILKINSON

In the Name of God Amen. I, William Wilkerson, of the County of Lincoln and State of Missouri, of sound and disposing mind, being according to my will, Do hereby declare this my last will and testament, revoking all others.

In the first place, I resign my body to the dust and my soul to God; and my wish is that after my death my body shall be buried in a decent Christian like manner.

My worldly goods I dispose of in the following manner:

My just debts to be paid out of my personal estate. My personal effects not bequeathed or disposed of in this will to be sold on a credit of twelve months and the proceeds to be applied first to the payment of my just debts.

I will and bequeath to my daughter, Nancy Hays five dollars; To my daughter Polly Hull the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Dollars. To my four sons, John, Herod, Jackonias and Elijah, I will and bequeath the tract of land, and improvements, on which I now reside, together with four yoke of cattle and all the farming utensils, household and kitchen furniture. Also, an ox waggon.

To my son, John Wilkerson, I will and bequeath a negro woman named Patsey. To my son Eliza a negro boy named Minton. To my daughter Tabitha Price a negro woman named Ann. To my two sons Herod and Jackonias I will and bequeath my negro fellow, Spencer to be equally divided between them by their paying to my son Eliza one hundred and fifty dollars. To my sons, James and Anderson I will and bequeath my negro fellow named Edmund to be equally divided between them by their paying to my daughter Lucy Simonds one hundred dollars.

If after the payment of my just debts and the specific legacies mentioned in this will there should be any effects left it is in my will that it be equally divided amongst all my children.

And lastly, I nominate and appoint my sons John and Herod Wilkerson as the executors of this my last will and testament.

John Wilkinson

John is supposed to have been born in Virginia and accompanied his father to the State of Tennessee, where he served as a soldier in the War of 1812. His service in the War is certified to by two nieces (IV-19) and (IV-22). It is highly probable that he came with his father's family to Missouri and that he later went with his brothers to the State of Wisconsin and is buried there, although there is no record of his later life. It is now known whether he was married.

James Wilkinson was born near Petersburg, Virginia, now West Virginia, in what was then Hampshire County, originally a part of Augusta County. In 1786 this section was incorporated in Hardy County, and in 1866 on a further subdivision became as it is to-day, a part of Grant County, West Virginia.

He accompanied his father into the West, and was the first time married in the State of Indiana according to the version of (IV-19), his daughter Catherine, and his wife died and was buried there, but his youngest daughter, Lucy (IV-22) thinks he removed to Kentucky and that the death of his wife took place there. Certain it is that he is found later with his father's family in Tennessee where he was married about the year 1815 to Temperance Knight, probably in Knox County. The place of his second marriage is in doubt. Catherine (IV-19) recalls hearing her father say he was married at or near Knoxville in Knox County, Tennessee, while Lucy (IV-22) remembers it as Nashville, Tennessee. As the county clerks of Davidson County, in which Nashville is located, and Wilson County, from which Davidson County was formed, certify that they have examined the records of their counties from 1788 to 1837 and from 1810 to 1820 respectively and find no record of any such marriage, and as Knoxville would be the more unfamiliar name and not easily suggested otherwise, it is quite probable that the marriage took place at or near the later place. An inquiry addressed to the County Clerk of Knox County would probably show a record of the marriage.

James was a soldier of the War of 1812. (History of Lincoln County (1888) page 629). The files of the Adjutant General in the War Department show that a James Wilkinson was enlisted January 28, 1814 at Lebanon, Wilson County, Tennessee, as a private in the Company of Captain Alexander Provin of the 3d Regiment, West Tennessee Militia, commanded by Colonel Cope-land, and served until the expiration of his term on May 20, 1814. If the marriage of James to Temperance Knight occurred in Davidson or Wilson counties this is undoubtedly the record of his service, as it is in the year immediately preceding his marriage, and probable as to time. But if their marriage took place in Knox county, then the place of his marriage was at least 150 miles from the place of the above enlistment, and in view of the distance in that day of lack of roads and facilities for communication, and in view of the general distribution of the Wilkinson name and the failure to make application for a pension in later life, it is to be regarded as decidedly improbable. But the statement of the history cited above is sufficient to show service, whether this particular citation is his record or not.

Some time after his second marriage his father again moved, this time to Kentucky and James and his family accompanied him. Their stay in Kentucky seems to have been brief and in the early twenties or sooner they settled in Lincoln County, Missouri. James lived for a while near Troy, but later moved into Hurricane Township and pre-empted the old Wilkinson Place, later known as the Lilly Place, located just north of the Wingfield Place now owned by (T. C. Howard), about two miles west of Elsberry. He was living here when the Census of 1850 was taken and his name appears in the returns as James "Wilkerson", aged 62, a farmer, born in Virginia and with property assessed at $960. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church and in his later years consistently voted the Democratic ticket. He died in 1855 of a virulent epidemic of contagious malignant dysentery which swept the country, claiming among its many victims Rachel and Temperance, the sister and mother of his son-in-law Isaac Cannon. He was buried in the Cannon Cemetery on the old Stinebaugh Place now owned by Robert Wilson, and in 1941 reinterred in Elsberry City Cemetery.

Bestia Perial, the first wife of James Wilkinson, was of German parentage and a communicant of the Catholic Church. According to Catherine (IV-19) she was living in the State of Indiana at the time of her marriage, but the state is not mentioned by any other record. She died shortly after the birth of her son in Indiana or Kentucky. Lucy (IV-22) mentions Kentucky but may have confused the names of the states. Nothing further is known of her, and even the spelling of her name is phonetic and therefore perhaps inaccurate.

Temperance Knight, the second wife of James Wilkinson, and the daughter of William Knight and Jane Griffin, was born in Tennessee near Knoxville. Catherine (IV-19) says the family of William Knight belonged to the English gentry, and that he having married against their wishes was disowned and came to America from England about 1765 or 1770 and settled in Virginia near Richmond. As Lucy (IV-22) recalls hearing her grandmother recount it was the Griffin family which belonged to the gentry and disinherited Jane on her mesalliance with William. Both were communicants of the Established Church of England. From Virginia they emigrated to Tennessee, and there reared a large family, of whom Thomas Knight, Jonathan Knight and Andrew Knight served in the war of 1812, Andrew being killed in battle. Two sons-in-law also served in the war, Thomas Barton who married Mary Knight and James Wilkinson who married Temperance. Jonathan Knight went west and settled in Coffey County, Kansas.

The trek from Tennessee and Kentucky to Missouri was made overland, the few household cattels being carried in two-wheeled carts drawn by oxen. The very young and the very old rode, but Temperance with most of the other women in the clan walked the entire distance.

Lucy remembers that on one occasion while she was a very small child and her mother was at home alone with her and her brother Andrew then an infant in arms, a wounded deer came down the valley pursued by men and dogs. Her mother placed her on the floor in front of the fireplace and gave her the child, so that she could not drop it, and hurried out to head off the deer, which was overtaken and killed. Lucy recalls pinching the baby to make him cry in order to be relieved of her duty as nurse and go out to watch the hunt.

Temperance spent the years following her husband's death with her sons Ralph and Andrew on their farm near Calumet, in Pike County, and died there in 1873. She was buried in the Dover Church Cemetery on the Pike County Gravel R. Known in the family and signed the deed as "Tempy" (page 338 of Book J. in Recorder's office at Troy, Missouri.

This is a record taken from Anderson Wilkinson's Bible now in possession of Nancy Ann Williams (Wilkinson).

This record also says Nancy Wilkinson departed this life November 23, 1838, but this is obviously incorrect. Also says Lucy Wilkinson departed this life August 23, 1838.

Anderson Wilkinson came to Missouri with his father. Later he moved to the State of Illinois, and when last known of was at Gilead. His descendants probably still reside there

He owned a slave, "Uncle Edmond" in common with James Wilkinson (III-5) who stayed alternately with him in Illinois and with James in Missouri. He was the only negro ever allowed to stay over night in Calhoun County, Illinois.

Herod Wilkinson came to Missouri with his father, and was married in Lincoln County by "Ephraim Davis of the Baptist Church". The marriage is recorded at page 111 in Book of the marriage records at the Recorder's office in Troy. After his father's death he resided on the old home place, later known as the Prewitt Place, now owned by heirs of R. A. Black, until 1850 when he moved to the State of Wisconsin, where he spent the remainder of his life.

Lucy Wilkinson lived at Troy, Missouri. She was married by Rev. David Hubbard, and her marriage is recorded at page 57 of Book 1 of the marriage records of Lincoln County. She died of the same disease with which her father had been afflicted cancer, and is buried in the Troy Cemetery at Troy, Missouri. Her descendants reside at Clarksville, Missouri.

Oliver Simonds was first married to Elizabeth Cole, and had by her the following children: Mary Jane, Nathaniel, Martha and John. Her reared the orphaned John Henderson, later United States Senator.

IV-12.

William Wilkinson-----

William Wilkinson, the only child by his father's first marriage, was born in Indiana or Kentucky. As his mother died at his birth he was taken by his maternal grandparents and reared by them, probably in Kentucky. He never saw his father after James came to Missouri. He wrote to him a number of times that he would come to Missouri to visit him and they corresponded at long intervals but he never came. There is some reason for believing that he was never married. He lived to an advanced age, and accumulated considerable property, estimated by one (IV-19) as $80,000. He was a devout Catholic and on his death is said to have willed all his property to the Catholic Church.

Joseph Conn Wilkinson is buried in the Watts Cemetery on The Forrest Keeling Nursery, on Highway 79 south of Elsberry, Missouri. His sister Polly (IV-20) lies just north of him. Joseph was born in Tennessee, and came with his father's family to Missouri and spent his entire life in Lincoln County.

Julia Church is supposed to have been born in Tennessee, and according to the biography of his son in the History of Lincoln County, (1888), page 629, she was married to Joseph and died and is buried in that state. Nothing definite is known of her.

Gabriella Gibson, daughter of William Watts, was born in Tennessee. She was first married to Jordan Gibson, and had two children by him, William N. Gibson and a daughter who married a Mr. Ward (see will of Mordecai Wilkinson (V-47) in Probate Office, Troy, Missouri.) She was married to Joseph Wilkinson by Jesse Sutton and the marriage is recorded at page 63, Book B in the Recorder's Office at Troy. She was buried in the Watts Cemetery with her husband, but her grave is evidently unmarked.

3d-----Jane Gilliland Berkalo

John Wilkinson, was known in the family as Jack or Jacky. He was a merchant at Clarksville in the days when the river traffic made it a great business point and handled a large business.

A nephew (V-74) relates that while visiting him as a boy there was a clatter of horses and fusilade of shots and a band of guerillas known as "Bushwhackers" came charging down the street and rifled the business houses. Uncle Jack saved the large part of his cash by wrapping up the bills in his till and hiding them in the potato bin.

He owned a noted race horse which he was accustomed to run on the race track just south of town. One day a stranger with a fleabitten nag came across from Illinois on the ferry and challenged him for a race. Uncle Jack eagerly accepted but when the stranger bet large amounts on his nag, in the race to be held next day, surreptitiously slipped the nag out of the barn that night and ran the race in the moonlight. The nag outdistanced his race horse so easily that when the stranger came around the following morning to run the race all Clarksville sporting men claimed it was merely a joke and they had not taken the stranger seriously.

Shortly after the war he migrated to California. He died there many years later.

Elizabeth Ann Simonds is (IV-44) in the direct Wilkinson line. She was living in Lincoln County at the time of her marriage which is recorded at page 330 of the records of Lincoln County, Book B and was married by "E. T. Noel of the Methodist Church". She lived only a few years after her marriage and died in Pike County where they had moved and is buried in the cemetery at Ramsey Creek Church.

Nancy C. Stephens was the daughter of Mr. Crown and was the first time married to a Mr. Stephens. She was married to John Wilkinson in Pike County by Rev. L. R. Downing, and her marriage is recorded at page 625 of Vol 3 at Bowling Green.

She is doubtless buried in Pike County but may have been buried with her first husband. She had no children by John Wilkinson, from whom she was divorced.

Jane Berkalo was the daughter of Mrs. Gilliland and was previously married to a Mr. Berkalo, after his death she moved to Carson City, Nevada.

Jane Wilkinson was married to Andrew Hogue by "Joseph Winston Sitton, Justice of the Peace", and the marriage is recorded on page 156 of Vol. B. of the marriage records of Lincoln County. She is buried in the Cannon Cemetery on the old Stinebaugh Place.

After the death of Jane, Andrew Hogue was the second time married to Virginia Blackmore, a widow, nee Lally, and had three children by his second marriage, Myrtle Hogue who married Hub King, Andrew Hogue and Zella Hogue. Zella died unmarried. He is buried with his second wife and Zella in the Oak Ridge Cemetery.

IV-16,

Ralph Griffin Wilkinson-----Unmarried

Ralph Wilkinson was known in the family as "Rafe". He was born in Lincoln County, Missouri.

Ralph was a veteran of the Civil War. He was enrolled February 20, 1862, at Louisiana, Missouri, and was mustered into service February 22, 1862, as a corporal, Company A, 3d Missouri, State Militia Cavalry. He was appointed sergeant February 10, 1863 and honorably discharged with his company February 27, 1865 at Macon, Missouri. He was granted a pension July 21, 1890 under certificate No. 67470. His regiment was commanded by General Lwing.

After his return from the war he entered partnership with his brother Andrew with whom he resided until his death. The two moved from Pike County, Missouri to Montana in the spring of 1883 where both entered land, about two miles south of Billings, Montana the second year after that town was established and owned it at the time of his death. He was a member of the Wm. McKinley Post G.A.R., and was buried in the cemetery at Billings, Montana.

IV-17.

Susan Wilkinson-----

Susan Wilkinson was burned to death at the age of ten. Every pioneer family had its Maple Sugar grove and its sugar camp just as it had its spring, its apiary orchard and its dairy herd. Practically no other sugar was obtainable and pioneer sweets were limited to honey, sorghum and maple sugar. The Wilkinson family was living at the time on a farm near Troy, probably their first permanent location after reaching Missouri. The sugar camp was located several hundred yards from the house in a grove on a small brook. The syrup was cooked in large open kettles suspended from a long slender log called the crane log supported at either end by forked posts driven in the ground, and under it the fire was built and kept burning day and night until time to "sugar off". It was in the early spring when the alternate freeze and thaw of the cold nights and warm days sent the sap up through the trees and all at the camp were busily engaged in gathering the sugar water from the buckets hung to the trees through the grove. No one was in the immediate vicinity of the fire except Susan and Uncle Edmond, a negro slave. Susan amused herself by climbing up on the crane log and running from one end to the other through the smoke and sparks from the fire beneath, when a flame leaping up unexpectedly caught her skirts. With the usual panic of a burning child she sprung from the log and started to run through the forest, jumping across the running stream in her terror instead of stopping to quench the fire. Uncle Edmond started in pursuit but before he could overtake her she was so badly burned that she died the following day. Illustrating the primitive penury and the lack of all manufactured articles in pioneer times, even in the midst of abundant resources supplied by nature, Susan possessed two treasures, a steel needle and a brass button. And realizing that she was dying she gave as a parting gift her needle to Jane and her button to Jacky.

Woodson Knight Wilkinson was born in Lincoln County, Missouri. He was married to Margaret Stubblefield by Joseph Winston Sitton, J.P. (page 135 of Book B of the marriage records of Lincoln County, Missouri.) While visiting relatives in Pike County, Illinois he met and married his second wife and resided there until about 1860 when rumors of the threatened draft caused him to move with others of the same mind to Carson City, Ormsby County, Nevada. Here his son Jefferson Davis Wilkinson was born in Pleasant Hill, Pike County, Illinois and is supposed to have died there. His son Charles was born in the State of Nevada. He remained at Carson City until about 1869 when he moved to Sandiego, California. In 1887 he returned with his wife to Pleasant Hill to settle the estate of her father and arrived on a visit to Elsberry, Missouri, November 20, 1887. Here he experienced a severe attack of pneumonia but recovered sufficiently to return to California in February of 1888. He was living in Downey, County, California when a letter was received from him in 1890. The census of 1890 returns his name and reports him living there with his son on his farm, but evidently separated from his wife. When visited in 1907 by J. W. Cannon he had sold his farm and moved away and had died soon after reaching his new home, the name of which J.W.C. could not remember.

Margaret Hubbard Stubblefield, spelled Margarett in the marriage record, daughter of Mary Cannon and Robert Stubblefield, left motherless almost from her birth, was reared in the same home of her grandfather, Samuel Cannon and was named for her Aunt Margaret, from whom she also inherited the name of "Peggy" by which she was always known in the family. She was born in what is now Hawk Point Township of Lincoln County, but spent her entire life in Hurricane. She was the victim of the epidemic of maglinant dysentery which scourged the country in 1855 decimating practically every family. She died at midnight; her father-in-law died the next morning, James Wilkinson, and her son, John Allen, died that evening. Her youngest son had succumbed nine days before from the same source. She is buried in the Cannon Cemetery on the Stinebaugh Place. Her headstone was of slate carved by Clifford (Cliff) Sitton who carved all the gravestones in that vicinity for many years. But unfortunately the slate was of a material which disintegrated easily, and little legible data remains on any of them.

Selina Thomas, daughter of Samuel Thomas and Elizabeth _____ was born in Pike County, Illinois and was married there by Samuel Lippuncott, J.P. Her father was born in Kentucky in 1808 and her mother was born in the same state the same year. The census of 1860 shows that she was living at Pleasant Hill, Illinois with her parents and one son in 1860. She must have followed her husband to Nevada shortly after, and doubtless her son died either there or in Nevada a little later. She returned with him to Illinois and Missouri and cared for him in his serious illness but died almost immediately upon her return to California, and is buried there, doubtless in Downey County.

Alpha Virginia Woods was married to Woodson Wilkinson in Los Angeles County, California. The marriage is recorded at page 27 of Book 20. The census of 1890 shows Woodson and his son Charles living alone, but reports Woodson as married.

28 Million Whites Reported Part Negro

Columbus, Ohio, June 14, 1958. (AP) - An Ohio State University professor of sociology and anthropology says more than 28 million white persons in the United States are descendants of persons of African origin.

The majority of these are classified as white, Robert P. Stuckert reports in the current issue of the Ohio Journal of Science.

Stuckert is assistant professor in the University's department of Sociology and Anthropology. He said he drew these conclusions from a genetic study of African and non-African population in this country from 1790 through 1950.

"The data . . . indicate that approximately 21 percent of the persons classified as white in 1950 have an African element in their inherited biological background," Stuckert wrote. He said he also found that 65 to 73 percent of United States Negroes had some degree of non-African ancestry.

"One conclusion stands out from these data," he said. "The belief in the racial uniformity of an individual's ancestors may be the basic myth of the white man's past."

Some families can trace their ancestry back for 300 years, but have no idea where their children were last night.
